Delegated or Committee Planning Application Report and Report of handling as required by Schedule 2 of the Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (Scotland) Regulations 2008 relative to applications for Planning Permission or Planning Permission in Principle

Reference No: 15/02607/MFF
Planning Hierarchy: Local Development
Applicant: Dawnfresh Farming Limited
Proposal: Modification of fish farm from 10 No. 80m circumference cages to 12 No. 80m circumference cages including increase in extent of mooring area (no increase in biomass).
Site Address: Sailean Ruadh (Etive 6), Loch Etive

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT NO. 2(A) INTRODUCTION

This report details additional representation received since the original report to Committee and Supplementary Report No. 1 were produced. It also includes an updated recommended reason for refusal which has been amended slightly to avoid ambiguity.

(B) REPRESENTATIONS:

Since the consideration of this application at the meeting of the 15th December 2015, further representations have been received which now bring the overall total of objectors and persons expressing support to:

Objectors – 226

Supporters – 185

The additional representations do not raise further substantive issues beyond those already summarised in the original report. The names and addresses of all persons having made representations are listed in the Appendix to this report, which now supersedes the previous lists. Any further representations received between the production of this report and the holding of the hearing will be reported verbally at the meeting.

(C) REASON FOR REFUSAL

The recommended reason for refusal set out in original report has been amended by the inclusion of the words highlighted in bold below. The purpose of this is to avoid any ambiguity and to make it clear that the committee is not fettering its discretion to consider any future proposals elsewhere in Loch Etive on their merits.

REASONS FOR REFUSAL RELATIVE TO APPLICATION 15/02607//MFF

1. This development proposes an extension to a marine fish farm which was approved on the basis of two other fin fish sites being de-equipped and a shellfish lease being superseded, in order to achieve sufficient rationalisation and consolidation to satisfy the policy requirements of Policy Zone D of the Council's Loch Etive Integrated Coastal Management Plan (2011). That requirement stemmed from the policy position established by the ICZM Plan that the narrow central section of the loch does not have residual landscape and visual capacity to accept further aquaculture developments, other than in circumstances where sites are capable of being relinquished in order to release additional capacity for development. No further consolidation or rationalisation is being advanced in support of this extension, and it is considered that no residual capacity remains in terms of that quid pro quo to enable the addition of a further two cages at this site, without exceeding what could reasonably be accepted as being legitimate consolidation and rationalisation in the terms of this policy. The extension of the site in the manner proposed would impinge on the appreciation of landscape character and visual amenity, particularly from frequented locations along the north shore of the loch and from elevated vantage points on the descent to the loch. The position of the additional cages at the Airds Point end of the site straddling the entrance to an inlet would, particularly in the elevated views available from the minor road from Barcaldine, give the impression of the extended development occupying more of the loch than it would in practice, by virtue of the combined effect of the foreground of the loch being obscured by intervening topography and having an area of water behind the surface equipment.. One of the key characteristics of the central section of Loch Eive is that it is narrow and fjordic in form with an irregular and indented coastline. The juxtaposition of Airds Point and the adjacent inlet at Sailean Ruadh makes an important contribution to this distinct landscape/seascape characteristic. The increase in the horizontal extent of the site by means of the additional equipment would lead to the site extending across much of the mouth of the inlet, which would disrupt this characteristic by means of an artificial linear feature of significant length, to the detriment of the appreciation of landscape character and visual amenity. This additional adverse effect would be compounded by simultaneous visibility of the other fish farm beyond Airds Point at Etive 4, contributing inappropriately to the cumulative impact of aquaculture in the loch. Regard has been had to government economic and sectoral policy which is to seek to expand the finfish sector substantially, but particularly in the absence of any stated intention to seek to increase biomass, it not considered that refusal of the application would prejudice the attainment of government targets, nor seriously prejudice the operation or viability of what is a relatively recently consented and equipped site. Accordingly, the proposal fails to satisfy the requirements of Local Development Plan Policy LDP 3 and

SG AQUA 1 and Policy LE AQUA 1 of the Loch Etive ICZM Plan, insofar as it is not considered that there are economic arguments in support of the enlargement of this site which would warrant the setting aside of the adverse landscape visual and cumulative impacts which have been identified.

(D) RECOMMENDATION

It is recommended that permission be refused for the reason stated in Section C above.
