Performance across the Development Management Service has been impacted by a significant backlog of casework. Whilst issues relating to staff resource availability have been resolved and output has improved it is highlighted that KPI's measuring average time taken remain adversely affected by the resolution of increasing volumes of 'legacy' casework. The Council's target for 'householder' applications has been revised to 10 weeks although this is not yet reflected in the format of corporate reports. By FQ4 only a handful of 'householder' 'legacy' items remained, this has resulted in a general improvement across this particular performance measure. During FQ4, 17 'householder' applications were determined in Oban, Lorn and the Isles, none of which were 'legacy' items. This is reflected in the excellent performance reported for this period.

Whilst issues relating to staff resource availability have been resolved and output has improved it is highlighted that KPI's measuring average time taken remain adversely affected by the resolution of 'legacy' casework. By FQ1 only a handful of 'householder' 'legacy' items remained. During FQ1, 57 'householder' applications were determined across Argyll and Bute, a 27% increase on the previous quarter. Three of these were 'legacy' items - excluding these, the remaining 54 applications were determined within an average time of 10.1 weeks. Please note: From 2026/27 FQ1 the target for this measure has been revised from determining householder applications within 8 weeks, to 10 weeks in alignment with the Development Management Service Plan (approved September 2024).

This indicator for FQ1 exceeds the target and performance has decreased since the last reporting period.

FQ4 Commentary

Performance across the Development Management Service has been impacted by a significant backlog of casework. Whilst issues relating to staff resource availability have been resolved and output has improved it is highlighted that KPI's measuring average time taken remain adversely affected by the resolution of increasing volumes of 'legacy' casework. The Council's target for 'householder' applications has been revised to 10 weeks although this is not yet reflected in the format of corporate reports. By FQ4 only a handful of 'householder' 'legacy' items remained, this has resulted in a general improvement across this particular performance measure. During FQ4, 45 'householder' applications were determined across Argyll and Bute including 5 'legacy' items. Excluding the 'legacy' items, the remaining 40 applications were determined within an average time of 8.9 weeks.

Reduction in number of empty properties

Performance presented is at area level and Council-wide.

Period	Area	Target	Actual	Variance	Status	FQ1 Commentary
2026/27 FQ1	OLI	59	68	9	Red - Actual exceeds Baseline	OLI continues to have the lowest empty relief rate sitting at 2.41%, with a small increase of 0.4% in the past quarter. This could be as a result of enhanced reporting of properties claiming the incorrect relief, and it does not reflect at least 3 shop openings in Oban town centre, including Home Bargains. We also are anticipating a re-opening of a pharmacy adjacent to Lorn Medical Centre following a successful appeal to NHS. Also reflected in the figures are a number of properties that are undergoing refurbishment of buildings with support from the council, and/or feasibility studies for conversion to residential or change of use. The OLI market is in a positive position, and we will continue to provide targeted support.

This indicator for FQ1 shows the cumulative number of empty properties has exceeded the baseline.

	2026/27 FQ1	68

FQ4 Commentary

Empty relief rate is currently 2.57% and remains the lowest in the region. OLI has seen an increase as a result of a number of known changes such as the disposal of Achaleven School, an increase in the number of vacancies at HIE's Malin House marine science building, plus the closure or liquidation of small village businesses in Connel and Taynuilt. Ardanaisig Hotel has also closed but is on the market for sale. In the year 2025/26, £50,000 in grants has been issued with x1 empty unit being assisted to explore a conversion to residential, plus x2 units receiving rates relief due to extensive refurbishment works including The Balmoral Hotel. There are also positive signs in the marketplace including x6 units in the process of re-opening including B&M, Lochavullin Bar, an art exhibition space and the unit at former Sealife Centre is to be fully demolished.

2026/27 FQ1	A&B	277	337	60	Red - Actual exceeds Baseline	The empty relief rate has increased once again by 0.72% in the first quarter of the financial year. This could be driven many factors, including an interruption of financial support due to a budget saving impact activity, improved reporting/audits between Empty Business Property Officer and NDR team. Macro-economic matters are playing out as business closures are on the increase, and we are seeing this across the authority. There also appears to be possible anomalies in the return, as the reports could be listing some properties that are actually in productive use. Empty Business Property Officer will investigate a list of properties (c20+) that need queried and review of data quality.

	2025/26 FQ3	249

	2026/27 FQ1	337

FQ4 Commentary

The empty relief rate has increased by almost 1% in the past quarter, however, this is the first FQ4 reporting and arguably the toughest in terms of trading conditions as a result of seasonality, poor weather plus the anticipation of impacts of the macro economic environment on subjects such as revaluations and resultant increases in rateable value plus National Minimum Wage and National Insurance contributions will have resulted in more exits from the market. On that basis, it is critically important that we continue to advance interventions in our town centres, and help address market failure re: costs of repurposing etc are going to act as barriers to investment.

2026/27 FQ1	OLI	No Target	1.66	N/A	N/A	Sickness absence has reduced significantly during the quarter as well as during the same quarter, last year. This represents a positive improvement in attendance levels and suggests increased workforce capacity and resilience across the service. Lower absence levels help support service continuity and reduce operational pressures on teams. Continued focus on employee wellbeing, early intervention, and effective attendance management practices will be important to sustain this positive trend and support further improvements in attendance performance.

This indicator for FQ1 shows the number of sickness absence days has decreased since the last reporting period.

	2026/27 FQ1	1.66

FQ4 Commentary

Working days lost due to sickness have reduced in FQ4 and remain below those recorded in the same period last year. While this is a positive local position, it sits within a wider context of sustained national increase and longer-term upward trends in sickness absence. To sustain improvement and future risk, proactive absence management will continue, supported by interventions such as refresher training for managers on attendance procedures, timely case reviews, and consistent application of support measures.

2026/27 FQ1	A&B	No Target	2.32	N/A	N/A	Sickness absence has reduced this quarter, representing a positive improvement in attendance levels, however it is higher than the same quarter, last year. The reduction suggests that attendance has improved compared with the previous quarter, helping to support workforce capacity and service delivery. While the improvement is encouraging, continued focus on employee wellbeing, early intervention, and consistent application of attendance management processes will be important to sustain this positive trend and support further improvements in absence performance.

FQ4 Commentary

Overall, sickness absence performance in FQ4 has been mixed, with some areas showing positive reductions in working days lost, while others have seen a slight increase or remained in line with the same period last year. This suggests that while some progress is being made, absence patterns continue to vary across services. Targeted support, focused management engagement, and ongoing monitoring will remain key to sustaining improvement and addressing areas of higher absence. Target training in the Supporting Attendance at Work Procedures has been undertaken with managers.

Period	Area	Target	Actual	Variance	Status	FQ1 Commentary
2026/27 FQ1	OLI	No Target	3.97	N/A	N/A	Sickness absence has increased slightly this quarter as well as increasing from the same quarter, last year. While the increase is relatively modest, it suggests a small deterioration in attendance levels compared with the previous quarter. Ongoing monitoring of absence trends will be important to identify any emerging patterns and ensure appropriate support and management interventions are implemented where required. Continued focus on attendance management, employee wellbeing, and early intervention will help support workforce resilience and minimise service disruption.

This indicator for FQ1 shows the number of sickness absence days has increased since the last reporting period.

FQ4 Commentary

Working days lost due to sickness have increased in FQ4 but still remain below those recorded in the same period last year and sits within a wider context of sustained national increase and longer-term upward trends in sickness absence. To sustain improvement and future risk, proactive absence management will continue, supported by interventions such as refresher training for managers on attendance procedures, timely case reviews, and consistent application of support measures.

2026/27 FQ1	A&B	No Target	3.89	N/A	N/A	Sickness absence has reduced this quarter (with a slight increase against the same quarter last year), representing a positive improvement in attendance levels. The reduction suggests that attendance has improved compared with the previous quarter, helping to support workforce capacity and service delivery. While the improvement is encouraging, continued focus on employee wellbeing, early intervention, and consistent application of attendance management processes will be important to sustain this positive trend and support further improvements in absence performance.

FQ4 Commentary

Overall, sickness absence performance in FQ4 has been mixed, with some areas showing positive reductions in working days lost, while others have seen a slight increase or remained in line with the same period last year. This suggests that while some progress is being made, absence patterns continue to vary across services. Targeted support, focused management engagement, and ongoing monitoring will remain key to sustaining improvement and addressing areas of higher absence. Target training in the Supporting Attendance at Work Procedures has been undertaken with managers.
