1. Introduction

- 1.1 This is the first comprehensive Anti-Poverty Strategy produced by Argyll and Bute Council. It comes at a time when Scotland as a nation has a growing awareness of the issue of poverty and is seeking to reduce its effects and increase the life chances and experiences of all its people. This comes with an acknowledgement that Scotland is a wealthy country but not everyone has a fair share. There is a total of £866 billion in total private wealth in Scotland's households. The wealthiest 10% of the population own 67% of the financial wealth whilst the least wealthy 50% own only 2%.
- 1.2 In this strategy we set out a clear vision of what Argyll and Bute hopes to achieve. We will use four objectives to frame a comprehensive Action Plan and we will make it clear how this is to be monitored and delivered. This report will be reviewed annually and key targets will be assessed. This strategy supports a broad range of targets including education, youth justice, community care, housing, health, fuel poverty, advice services and environmental factors. The targets and actions from this strategy will inform the Child Poverty Action Reports to be produced annually from 30th June 2019 jointly by the Local Authority and the Health Board and these will provide an additional focus on the needs of children and young people.

Definition

- 1.3 To begin to look clearly at the issue of poverty, it is important to first have a clear definition of what poverty actually is. The Joseph Rowntree Foundation defines poverty as 'When a person's resources (mainly their material resources) are not sufficient to meet their minimum needs (including social participation).'
- 1.4 Poverty is, first and foremost, about household income. The Scottish Government (Annual Report for the Child Poverty Strategy for Scotland 2016) differentiates a number of categories:
- Relative Poverty – The percentage of children living in households with equivalised net income of less than 60% UK median household income in the same year.
 - Absolute Poverty – The percentage of children living in households with equivalised net income of less than 60% of UK median household income in the base year (2010 – 2011) adjusted for inflation.
 - Combined low income and material deprivation – The percentage of children living in low income households that lack certain basic necessities. Low income here is defined as an equivalised net household income of less than 70% of the UK median household income.
 - Persistent Poverty – The percentage of children living in a household in relative poverty for at least 3 years out of a four-year period.
- 1.5 However, the experience of poverty is often much wider and more complex than just having a low income, with some people experiencing a range of disadvantages that extend beyond just not having enough money. We understand that many people that we might describe as 'living in poverty' do not consider themselves to be living in poverty, or don't associate with words like 'poverty' at all.

The National Picture

1.6 It is useful to look at the national picture in Scotland today.

1.7 Health - Men in the most affluent areas experience 23.8 more years of good health compared to men living in the most deprived areas. Similarly, women in the most affluent areas experience 22.6 more years of good health compared to women living in the most deprived areas. (The Socio-Economic Duty, a Consultation; July 2017; Page 10).

“Poverty puts considerable strain on family budgets and relationships. Children who grow up in low-income households have poorer mental health and physical health, on average, than those who grow up in better-off families.” (We Can Solve Poverty in the UK: a Strategy for Governments, Businesses, Communities and Citizens; Page 10. The Joseph Rowntree Foundation; 2016.)

1.8 Education – “From an early age, children in poverty are more likely to score worse in tests of cognitive, social and behavioural development. At age five, children who have had high-quality childcare for two to three years are nearly eight months ahead in their literacy development than children who have not been in pre-school.” (We Can Solve Poverty in the UK: a Strategy for Governments, Businesses, Communities and Citizens; Page 10. The Joseph Rowntree Foundation; 2016.)

54.3% of the poorest children perform well in numeracy. (Annual Report for the Child Poverty Strategy for Scotland 2016; Scottish Government Publication.)

In the most affluent areas, 81% of Scottish school leavers are qualified to Higher Level or above, compared with 43% in the most deprived areas. (The Socio-Economic Duty, a Consultation; July 2017; Page 10).

75% of Looked after Children left School aged 16-years or under in 2015 / 2016. In the same year 15% of Looked after Children left School with one or more qualification at SCQF 6 or better; as opposed to 62% of all School Leavers. (Children, Education and Skills; Education Outcomes for Looked after Children 2015 / 2016; Scottish Government.)

1.9 Employment and Poverty – In 2015 / 2016, after housing costs 64% of working age adults in poverty were living in working households, as were 70% of the children.

1.10 Fuel Poverty - the 2015 Scottish House Condition Survey showed that around 748,000 (30.7%) households were in fuel poverty.

2. Poverty in Argyll and Bute

- 2.1 Some areas of Argyll and Bute have much higher levels of poverty than others, and we often call these 'deprived neighbourhoods' as a result of area-based measures of poverty such as the Scottish Indices of Multiple Deprivation (SIMDs). In some cases, the actions in our strategy are focussed on areas where we know there are more people living in poverty. However, we recognise that there are people living in poverty in all of our communities, and therefore we challenge the view that poverty can solely be determined by where you live.
- 2.2 The results for Argyll and Bute from the SIMD 2016 shows
- 4 data zones in the 10% most overall deprived data zones
 - 11 data zones in the 20% most overall deprived data zones
 - 9 data zones are in the 20% most income deprived data zones.
 - 6 data zones are in the 20% most employment deprived data zones
 - 6 data zones are in the 20% most health deprived data zones
 - 10 data zones in Argyll and Bute in the 15% most overall deprived data zones.
 - 8 data zones are in the 15% most employment deprived data zones.
 - 12 data zones are in the 15% most health deprived data zones.
 - 41,738 people live in the 53 data zones (38%) that are amongst the 15% most access deprived data zones.
 - 13 of Argyll and Bute's data zones – more than 10% – are in the 1% most access deprived data zones.
- 2.3 The most access deprived data zone in Scotland covers the islands of Coll and Tiree. All of the data zones that are in the 15% most Overall, Income, Employment and Health deprived data zones in Scotland are in our main towns. Conversely, Access Deprivation is most pronounced in our rural areas.
- 2.4 National statistics tell us that families with children are very much the biggest group in poverty, followed a long way behind by single men and then pensioners. Much of this strategy therefore concentrates on child poverty, with a focus on prevention and early intervention in order to improve long term outcomes.
- 2.5 Also we need to be mindful that the budgets required by households to meet a minimum acceptable standard of living in remote and rural Scotland have been found to be between a tenth and a third more than in urban parts of the UK (Centre for Research in Social Policy, Loughborough University 2016). The additional costs come from costs of travelling, heating, and costs of delivery of goods.

Child Poverty

- 2.6 The latest statistics for child poverty in Argyll and Bute (Source: End Child Poverty) that 20.4% of children in our area are in low income households – a total of 3,176 in 2015. This is measured after housing costs. The Child Poverty (Scotland) Act 2017 received royal assent on 18 December 2017. It sets targets for child poverty for Scotland for 2030 to have less than 10% in relative poverty (measured as in a household with less than 60% median UK equivalised income for the year), and less than 5% in absolute poverty, combined low income and material deprivation or persistent poverty. There are also interim targets to be met by 1 April 2023. Local authorities and health boards will be required to report on an annual basis on activity being undertaken to reduce child poverty levels.

- 2.7 The Child Poverty (Scotland) Act 2017 sets out targets for relative, absolute and persistent poverty to be met from 2030 and interim targets from 2023. Each local authority and health board has to prepare a local child poverty action report by 30 June annually starting from 30 June 2019 describing measures taken within the area in order to contribute to meeting the child poverty targets. The Scottish Government's first 4 year Tackling Child Poverty Delivery Plan 2018-22 entitled "Every child, every chance" identifies 3 drivers of poverty – employment; household costs; and social security. 15 key actions have been identified and local authorities and health boards expect to be involved in many of these including a new minimum payment for School Clothing Grant, school meals during holidays, fuel poverty programmes, healthier, wealthier children and the new employment support service, Fair Start Scotland. These poverty drivers are picked up in this strategy where relevant.
- 2.8 The council has another new duty from April 2018 – the Fairer Scotland duty. This requires the Council to consider how it can reduce inequalities of outcome caused by socio-economic disadvantage whenever strategic decisions are being made. This anti-poverty strategy and action plan will contribute to activity to meet the Fairer Scotland Duty.

3. Our Vision

- 3.1 We want an Argyll and Bute where no-one lives in poverty. Everyone should be able to achieve their potential and feel healthy, happy and valued. We want to be a place where everyone understands that tackling poverty is everyone's responsibility. We believe that if we act locally, and in partnership, we can make a real difference.
- 3.2 This is supported by the Local Outcomes Improvement Plan and its 6 long term outcomes that in Argyll and Bute:
1. The economy is diverse and thriving.
 2. We have infrastructure that supports sustainable growth.
 3. Education, skills and training maximises opportunities for all.
 4. Children and young people have the best possible start.
 5. People live active, healthier and independent lives.
 6. People live in safer and stronger communities.

4. Our Guiding Principles

4.1 It is recognised both at a national and a local level that change needs to happen; poverty in Scotland needs to be addressed. Argyll and Bute intends to take forward a strategy that will improve the lives of individuals and families who are experiencing poverty and deprivation for whatever reasons. We recognise that this can only be done by working together and involving all stakeholders in the process.

4.2 In seeking to achieve this we will be governed by a number of principles:

1. Respect

Treating everyone with dignity and valuing every contribution.

2. Resilience

Helping individuals and households to manage their own affairs and make informed choices and decisions about their lifestyle; building resilience in people and communities.

3. Person Focused

Tailoring services and support to the different types and places of poverty and the different needs and characteristics of all our communities and identities, acknowledging that one solution does not suit all.

4. Fairness

Removing barriers that prevent some people from taking part in life, socially and economically. Promoting a society in which individuals and groups are treated fairly and receive a just share of the opportunities that our region has to offer.

5. Sustainable

Plan our actions for the long term, in an ongoing discussion with our residents. Designing and building services, infrastructure and organisations that are affordable and accessible.

6. Shared

Making sure there is a joint understanding of the issues around poverty in our region and working together in partnership.

7. Communication

Listening to and involving our residents, understanding their experiences and using their advice.

4.3 These Guiding Principles will underpin everything we do to address the poverty issue. In doing so we face a number of challenges that we recognise and hope to overcome.

5. Our Challenges and Opportunities

Challenges

- 5.1 Geography – Argyll and Bute is the second largest local authority in Scotland at 690, 899 hectares. It is also the third sparsest populated area with only 13 people per square kilometre. Whilst there are a number of towns (Dunoon, Helensburgh, Oban, Campbeltown, Lochgilphead), 44% of people in Argyll and Bute live in remote areas. There are also 23 islands and we have more populated islands than any other local authority. Provision of services can be difficult and sometimes more costly, with issues such as recruitment and travel costs playing a part. There are many areas where transport links are limited and there is a greater reliance on the car, as a necessity not a luxury. Also delivery costs are higher making the price of goods in local shops higher than average. Where there are no shops individuals must find the cost of delivery on top of the goods they require. Some suppliers will not deliver to Island addresses.
- 5.2 Fuel Poverty – The Scottish Housing Condition Survey 2017 estimated that 48% of households in Argyll and Bute were in fuel poverty as opposed to the Scottish average of 30.7%. Approximately 42% of Argyll and Bute is off the gas grid and hence have to resort to more expensive fuels. High fuel bills combined with low incomes and energy inefficient properties leads to fuel poverty.
- 5.3 Low Wage Economy – Argyll and Bute is an area that lacks large scale industries and derives much of its employment from tourism (also Forestry, Fishing, Crofting, Public Sector Employment etc.). 14% of jobs in Argyll and Bute are in tourism as opposed to 8% in Scotland. The tourism sector is over-represented in Argyll and Bute compared with any other local authority in Scotland. Tourism is an extremely important sector for Argyll and Bute employing almost 25% of private sector jobs and 9% of our GVA compared to a 3% GVA average for Scotland¹. Such jobs tend to have a low skills base and be seasonal in nature. There is also the issue of young people in rural and island environments sometimes lacking in employment options and having to move to seek desired employment. Argyll and Bute is also more dependent on public sector employment than most areas. The UK average is 4.4% and in Argyll and Bute it is 11.1%.
- 5.4 Population Change – Like the rest of Scotland, Argyll and Bute is experiencing an ageing workforce; with the related economic and resource issues that this brings. There is an expected 14.4% decrease in the working age population by 2035. In addition every area except Oban has a reducing population.
- 5.5 Equality and Diversity – Argyll and Bute strongly supports equality and diversity and respects the Protected Characteristics of: age, disability, gender reassignment, pregnancy and maternity, race, religion or belief, sex, sexual orientation (Sec 149 (7) Equality Act 2010). Ensuring equity in delivery of services and reaching people to offer advice and support, is problematic when dealing with such a large, diverse area that includes 23 islands.

Opportunities: What we can and will do

- 5.6 Working together – Argyll and Bute has a number of active community groups and individuals; we work well together. We are able to use this to our advantage in forwarding the Anti-Poverty Strategy and getting feedback from stakeholders. We have eight local Health and Well Being Networks and nine Locality Planning Groups. For example Locality Planning Groups for The Isles, Mull and for Oban. Professionals, Community Councils and others work together for local aims. We also engage well with our Third Sector colleagues and local employers.
- 5.7 Health and Social Care Partnership – The integration of social and health into a unified partnership has led to closer, more effective working, tailored to the individual's needs in a holistic way. For example the co-location of Health Visitors and Social Workers allowing for joint working to support vulnerable families.
- 5.8 Service Review and redesign – Argyll and Bute Council will review and, if necessary redesign its health, adult and childcare community services in order to ensure effective working with stakeholders and value for money.
- 5.9 Raise Awareness of Poverty – We can engage with people, through a number Advisory and Support Groups. We can support and advise those in poverty and raise awareness of issues that relate to the causes of poverty and deprivation. For example: C.A.B.; ABAN (Argyll and Bute Advice Network); Money Skills Argyll, Bute Advice Centre, AliEnergy, Argyll and Bute Council Welfare Rights Officers, Carrgomm, Women's Aid, The HELP Project.
- 5.10 Use our Leadership to Influence People – We will use the WRWG (Welfare Reform Working Group) to provide leadership on the Anti-Poverty Strategy. We will promote this and other messages by supporting both local and national campaigns. We will, through messages from our staff and in our leaflets and literature make it clear to all stakeholders that we are committed to addressing the causes of poverty and supporting people to improve the quality of their lives. In doing this we will champion equal rights and the value of all of our people in Argyll and Bute.

6. Our Four Objectives

- 6.1 We will focus our Anti-Poverty Strategy by using four key objectives which set out what we hope to achieve:
 - 1. To listen to people and families experiencing poverty and make sure their voice is heard.
 - 2. To support people experiencing poverty to move from dependence to independence.
 - 3. To ensure our information and services are easy to access.

4. To provide services that meet the needs of people experiencing poverty.

To listen to people and families experiencing poverty and make sure their voice is heard.

6.2 In Argyll and Bute we think it is important to listen to people and to learn from them directly what they perceive the challenges and opportunities in their lives. We serve a large number of diverse and different communities, including town, large rural areas and 23 island communities. This gives us challenges that are perhaps unrivalled in Scotland. We place emphasis on consultation, joined up working and planning in order to meet these challenges. Importantly we work with our communities to deliver services to them that will help them to increase their independence, achieve their potential and lead happy and fulfilled lives. We understand that that no two communities are the same and if we are to address the causes and symptoms of poverty; we must listen and try to provide solutions to fit each one.

6.3 We will engage with our people and communities by:

- Finding better ways to use the feedback that we get from people using our services (welfare advice services, fuel advice; money matters; community and health services etc.).
- Talking to those who are experiencing deprivation and poverty. How can we make things better? What can we change in order to achieve more for individuals and communities?
- Consulting with the users of front line services during our review and re-design processes.

To support people experiencing poverty to move from dependence to independence.

6.4 We noted earlier in this Strategy that the experience of poverty is often much wider and more complex than just having a low income, with some people experiencing a range of disadvantages that extend beyond just not having enough money. We understand that many people that we might describe as 'living in poverty' do not consider themselves to be living in poverty, or don't associate with words like 'poverty' at all. Hence we need to encourage people to use available services, supports and advice and see this as their right. We need to deliver services and advice in a way that will respect dignity and encourage independence.

6.5 Our Services and Stakeholders will:

- Ensure that our staff understand the nature of poverty and are aware of its causes and impacts.
- Ensure that our staff use positive, person focused language when dealing with people who are experiencing the effects of poverty.
- Ensure that our strategies and plans incorporate ways of increasing resilience and independence in people.

To ensure our information and services are easy to access.

6.6 The earlier that people access our services, the more likely it is that outcomes may prove to be positive. The research done on the impact of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) shows that those who have experienced four or more “ACEs” have a 2.3 times increased risk of unemployment; four times increased risk of depression and a 12 times increased risk of suicide. Argyll and Bute recognises this and places emphasis on early years support and encouraging parents to make early and effective use of our services in order to effect change in their lives and the lives of their children. In order to achieve this we have to make sure that we make services accessible and our staff trusted and approachable. We will ensure that our staff and partners are aware of the ACEs research.

Scottish Public Health Network (ScotPHN): 'Polishing the Diamonds' Addressing Adverse Childhood Experiences in Scotland. Sarah Couper, Phil Mackie; May 2016

6.7 We look to improve access and uptake by:

- Ensuring that our services are properly integrated and working together (e.g. the Argyll and Bute Advice Network)
- Ensuring that staff are fully aware of service provision and are able to signpost people to other organisations.
- Ensuring that we work closely with Third Sector organisations.
- Identifying and reducing barriers to engagement.

To provide services that meet the needs of people experiencing poverty.

6.8 Poverty does not have a single cause, a single effect or a single solution. It is therefore important to ensure that all the plans that we make are sensitive to the issue of poverty. It is equally important to ensure that when we make decisions in any area of policy and practice, we pause to consider what impact they will have on those experiencing poverty. This has been recognised by the Scottish Government and this “duty” will shortly become necessary for all Scottish Councils.

6.9 It is also important to ensure that both universal and targeted services meet the needs of those experiencing poverty and that targeted services avoid any sense of stigma or cause people to be reluctant to engage.

7. Supporting Strategies and Action Plan

7.1 We have identified six key areas in which to focus our anti-poverty action plan:

- Children and Families
- Employment
- Finance
- Health and Wellbeing
- Home Energy and Fuel
- Travel and Transport

7.2 Children and Families: We will work to improve the experiences and life changes of our children and families. It is acknowledged that our efforts must cover a wide range of services; we must ensure that our children live in good, sustainable houses and environments. We must ensure that they live in homes where income is maximised (The Child Poverty Strategy for Scotland 2014-2017). We will also ensure that children are not excluded in any part of their day to day lives and that our Schools can help them to meet their potential, feel confident and listened to. We will also embrace the learning from the “Adverse Childhood Experiences” research and look to train our staff to recognise barriers to positive childhood experiences. Where children are in receipt of targeted services, we will ensure that joint working is effective, their needs are met and they are kept safe.

7.3 Employment: We will ensure that our Employment Activity Plan, hosted by the Argyll and Bute Employability Partnership, works to strengthen the links between, education, employability and employment to create economic growth. In this plan we make the following commitments:

- All individuals will have the opportunity to acquire, develop and apply career management skills which will inspire and enable them to make informed choices on the learning, training and employment options open to them leading to sustained positive destinations.
- The Corporate Parenting Board will provide a planned, coherent and individualised approach to post school transition for individuals who have been Looked After.
- Partners will provide training and work experience directly to help individuals make informed choices on the training and employment options open to them and by so doing allow some individuals to gain their first critical experience of the world of work.
- Partners will encourage employers and developers to provide opportunities for individuals through the use of grant and loan finance and through promotion of corporate responsibility.
- Partners will influence suppliers and contractors to provide training, work experience and jobs for individuals through its purchase of goods and services.

7.4 Finance: Many families in Argyll and Bute struggle financially. The average house price in Argyll and Bute is £150,178 and 66.4% of households would not be able to afford this. Almost 57% would not afford the median house price; and even the lower quartile house price is out with the affordable range of over 38% of local households. 24,610 households are below the average income in Argyll & Bute (60.6%). On February the 1st 2018 the gross weekly pay in Argyll and Bute was £464.70, as opposed to £547.70 in Scotland. We will ensure that we will closely monitor the state benefit system and ensure that people have access to a good level of advice and support through a number of our services. We will work with the Department of Work and Pensions to address any problems.

- 7.5 Health and Wellbeing: It is now widely acknowledged and recognised that there is a link between reduced levels of health and wellbeing and poverty. Both men and women are likely to die younger if they come from an under privileged area and experience deprivation. The Scottish Health Survey 2016 recognises this and states that: “Of the 16 National Outcomes allied to the Government’s strategic objectives, those of greatest relevance to health are:
- We live longer, healthier lives
 - We have tackled the significant inequalities in Scottish society.
- 7.6 Further, the Joseph Rowntree Foundation (2014) also recognised the connection between poor health and its impact on income and the ability to undertake paid employment. In childhood poor health may prevent people from achieving their educational potential. In Argyll and Bute we will ensure that we work with our partners and communities to focus our resources on the causes of ill health and also on positive, healthy activity and choices.
- 7.7 Home Energy and Fuel: Fuel poverty is an important issue in Argyll and Bute and it has already been noted that it is higher than the national average. Many areas do not have access to mains gas and there is a significant level of disrepair and poor condition in our housing. We recognise these as key areas and our Local Housing Strategy 2016 – 2021, has the following amongst its strategic objectives:
- Fuel poverty reduced
 - Improved Private Rented Sector
 - Green House gas emissions reduced.
 - Improved energy efficiency across all tenures
 - Stock conditions in town centres and rural settlements improved
 - Home Owners more aware of responsibilities in respect of their properties
- 7.8 Travel and Transport: Our transport system must function effectively to keep our communities connected to each other and other parts of the country. It must be fit for purpose as it is critical for the development of our economy. Our roads that connect our rural areas and our ferries that service our islands are vital, enabling Argyll and Bute to become a cohesive whole. We have in total 1,617 miles of road. We have infrastructure challenges that are unique, including the upkeep of 41 piers and harbours. We recognise the importance of this area and the fact that a higher than normal proportion of our population must rely on the car, placing greater pressure on their household costs. Whilst this may be unavoidable we will work with our partners to try to ensure that vulnerable people are assisted to manage and do not become isolated or excluded because of this factor.
- 7.9 These key areas have been at the forefront of our thinking in developing our anti-poverty action plan. These key areas cover a wide spectrum of activities carried out by different Services across the Council and supported by our Community Planning Partners. Many of these have their own focussed strategies and plans, and it is important to be aware of these and how they interact.

- 7.10 Some of the most important strategies and plans that support the delivery of the vision and objectives within this plan are detailed in Appendix 2. As there is no one single, comprehensive measure of poverty or deprivation, it is therefore important to have a number of well-coordinated strategies and plans that combine to produce a network of anti-poverty actions that will, over time, work to reduce poverty and enhance people's life chances and positive experiences in Argyll and Bute.
- 7.11 These various plans and strategies have provided the starting point to develop key anti-poverty actions which will allow us to monitor and report on our performance across our anti-poverty work. They will be monitored and progress collated in an annual report produced by the Welfare Rights Working Group. Through this and the feedback from people and communities engaging with our services we hope to move forward and both be able to make significant progress in tackling poverty and demonstrate clearly where and how progress has been made.
- 7.12 The action plan is set out at Appendix 1. It is organised under our four objectives which we described at section 6 of this report.

8 Conclusion

- 8.1 Poverty is an issue for our area. We are a relatively low wage economy with average gross weekly pay in February 2018 of £464.70 – 15% below the Scottish average of £547.70. The latest statistics for child poverty in Argyll and Bute (Source: End Child Poverty) show that 20.4% of children in our area are in low income households – a total of 3,176 in 2015. In addition, the Scottish Housing Condition Survey 2017 estimates that 48% of households in our area are in fuel poverty – well above the Scottish average of 30.7%.
- 8.2 So there are a number of important drivers for bringing together a cohesive anti-poverty strategy in addition to a new legal requirement under the Child Poverty (Scotland) Act 2017 to prepare an annual local child poverty action report. This must set out the measures taken by each during the preceding year to contribute towards the targets and the measures proposed for the future. In order to do this, we need to have a clear strategy and action plan relating to child poverty. As children are part of families and the wider community, officers have prepared a broader Anti-poverty strategy covering all these matters.
- 8.3 This anti-poverty strategy and associated plan demonstrates that poverty is being addressed in Argyll and Bute. The strategy details the issues that we face relating to geography, demographics and our economic base. It lists the current situation, our challenges and advantages. It emphasizes that despite challenges, we are able to demonstrate an organised approach in our Council policies and plans that tackles the issues of poverty and deprivation. Key to this is our close working with community bodies, the Third Sector, The Strategic Housing Forum, The Department of Work and Pensions, Employers and Education establishments.

8.4 The strategy sets out our vision as:

“We want an Argyll and Bute where no-one lives in poverty. Everyone should be able to achieve their potential and feel healthy, happy and valued. We want to be a place where everyone understands that tackling poverty is everyone’s responsibility. We believe that if we act locally, and in partnership, we can make a real difference.”

8.5 In order to organise our plan, we have set out 4 objectives as follows:

1. To listen to people and families experiencing poverty and make sure their voice is heard.
2. To support people experiencing poverty to move from dependence to independence.
3. To ensure our information and services are easy to access.
4. To provide services that meet the needs of people experiencing poverty.

8.6 The Anti-Poverty Strategy and Plan is the product of involvement with a wide number of organisations within Argyll and Bute and the Third Sector. It is hoped that it will provide a starting point for good communication and concerted action to address the issues of poverty and deprivation within Argyll and Bute. It is acknowledged that this area faces particular problems, relating to being a low wage economy with marked housing and fuel poverty. Opportunities can be limited for our young people, particularly those who are care experienced. We have the additional challenges posed by being a large rural area, with 23 populated islands and a sparse population of only 13 people per square kilometre. The strategy will be updated annually in line with the preparation of the required annual reports under the Child Poverty (Scotland) Act.

Appendix 1: Anti-Poverty Action Plan

Objective 1: To listen to people and families experiencing poverty and make sure their voices are heard.

1.1 Improving ways of getting feedback from people who use our services

1.2 Listening to the experiences of people experiencing poverty and learning what we can do better

1.3 Working with people experiencing poverty and helping them to find solutions. Ask them to tell us what front line services work for them.
